

Forecast For East of England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 24 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:

Mostly cloudy today. Turning clear and chilly overnight.

Today:

A few bright or sunny spells are possible in the east at first, otherwise most places will become cloudy with some light rain and drizzle possible. Skies will brighten in the northwest late afternoon and it will feel mild. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:

Dry overnight with lengthy clear spells developing allowing it to turn chilly. Cloud will tend to thicken again later in the night, but it will remain dry. Minimum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Thursday:

Largely dry with variable amounts of cloud giving some bright or sunny spells. A few showers may form across the region during the afternoon. Mild and a little breezy. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:

Blustery on Friday with a spell of heavy rain pushing across the region. Drier but cooler on Saturday before turning cloudy and damp on Sunday. Windy throughout.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.